

Student Assistant Position

No. of Vacancies: 1

The National Institute of Education (Nanyang Technological University, Singapore) invites suitable applications for the position of Student Assistant on a temporary contract for a maximum of 16 hours per week, for a period of four weeks (with the possibility of extension) at the Office of Education Research.

Project Title: Examining educational transitions and pathways in Singapore: From secondary to post-secondary (OER 06/21 MCCY)

Project Information: The objective of this study is to attend to contemporary international discourses about the complex nature of post-school transitions, through the cultural lens of post-secondary youths in Singapore. Through these objectives, an overarching overview of students' transitions from secondary to post-secondary education, the types of socio-economic conditions that may have impacted youths' post-school trajectories, the impact of existing policies and programmes, and the impact of personal and institutional factors and their interactions will be established.

Requirements

- Applicants should be a full-time NTU or NIE undergraduate or postgraduate student during the contractual period.
- Applicants should be familiar with the educational system and school curriculum in Singapore.
- Applicants with prior experience in working on quantitative data using SPSS or Microsoft Excel will be preferred.

Responsibilities

- To perform quantitative data cleaning, sorting, and validation checks using SPSS and/or Microsoft Excel.
- To perform other tasks as required by the Principal Investigator.

Contract Details

- Targeted contract period of four weeks will start in mid-September 2023.
- The payment rate is at S$12.00 per hour.

Contact Information

Should you be interested, please contact Mr Simon Lim at simon.lim@nie.edu.sg. Shortlisted applicants will be invited to a short interview.